

Board Candidate – President-Elect 2021-2022

Kelly Ussery-Kronhaus, MD, FAAFP

Director, Graduate Medical Education, Ocean Medical Center
Program Director, Family Medicine Residency at Ocean Medical Center

Dr. Kelly G. Ussery-Kronhaus received her Doctorate of Medicine from Ross University School of Medicine in 2002. Board Certified in Family Medicine in 2005 by The American Board of Family Medicine, Dr. Ussery-Kronhaus completed her residency in Family Medicine at St. Mary's Hospital in Hoboken, NJ. While in residency, Dr. Ussery-Kronhaus served as Chief Resident and distinguished herself as a champion for medical education.

After graduating from residency, Dr. Ussery-Kronhaus practiced primary care and urgent care in private practice before taking a position as faculty at the residency program where she trained. Since starting work in academic medicine, shaping the minds of new physicians, she took a keen interest in Women's Health and advanced her training through the ASCCP. She regularly performs in office gynecological procedures such as PAP smears and Colposcopy. In addition to her clinical duties she was responsible for developing educational curriculum for the residency and eventually was bestowed the prestigious title of Associate Residency Director.

Dr. Ussery-Kronhaus currently serves as The Medical Director of Graduate Medical Education at Ocean Medical Center, Program Director for The Family Medicine Residency at Ocean Medical Center, Vice Chair of the Department of Family Medicine at Hackensack Meridian Health Seton Hall School of Medicine, Assistant Clinical Professor at Rowan School of Osteopathic Medicine and Assistant Clinical Professor, Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School

Dr. Ussery-Kronhaus brings that passion for education to her patients by devoting herself to their understanding of the diseases and health conditions that they face. She is a member and Fellow of The American Academy of Family Physicians.
